Dianne is back creating dreams after hip pain

Dianne, who has dedicated her professional life to ensuring brides feel at their most beautiful on their big day, is back conducting ceremonies after she could not get her operation approved by the NHS.

"I was rejected for hip surgery because of my weight, even though I weighed the same as when I had my left hip and my right knee replaced.

I first went there as an NHS patient because of the short waiting list and I would recommend that anyone who needs treatment should look at the centre."

Dianne Fox, Doncaster

Preparing for surgery and after-care

Your care is our number one priority.

With our consultant-delivered service, we do our best to ensure that the doctors you meet at your outpatient appointment will also carry out your surgery and your follow-up appointments.

Getting prepared for surgery

One of the benefits of being treated at our hospital is our 'one-stop-service' for your outpatient appointment. We aim to complete any pre-treatment tests there and then, to save you making multiple trips, and our outpatient clinical team will do their best to assess you at the same time.

Your outpatient appointment is also an opportunity for you to meet the consultant who will perform your treatment. Feel free to ask any questions you wish – you may even want to write these down ahead of your appointment. They will explain any special preparations you may need to make before your treatment.

On the day of your treatment, wear something light and comfortable, so you're as relaxed as possible.

If you'll be staying with us, you may want to bring personal toiletries, nightclothes, comfortable footwear, something to read, and any medication you routinely take.

After-care following your surgery

When you leave the centre after you have had your treatment, you'll be given full details of your follow up care. We will inform your GP that you've been discharged from the treatment centre and we will telephone you – usually a couple of days after your treatment – to check that you are recovering well.

It's crucial to rest and take care of yourself after your treatment.
